EMBRACE FALL AT THE PATIOS PRESENTED BY BERKSHIRE BANK

New Installations Bring the Best Smells, Sights, Snacks and Sips of Autumn

Boston, MA (Sept. 6, 2019) – Boston’s favorite fall hangout is back! The Patios presented by Berkshire Bank is embracing the best season of the year and invites the public enjoy all the ‘Fall Feels’ starting today through the close of the season on Saturday, October 12. Bostonians and leaf peepers alike can enjoy the best sights, snacks, sips (and smells!) of the season at this urban oasis.

‘Fall Feels’ at The Patios include:

SMELLS: Need a quick Fall fix? Visit The Patios, the first outdoor, open-air location of its kind that features a lightly-scented breeze of pumpkin spice to make all things nice.

SIGHTS: The Patios will be stocked with pumpkins, mums, cornstalks and hay bales to create the perfect backdrop for that #SweaterWeather Instagram you’ve been dreaming about posting since the last heatwave.

SNACKS: Pop-up vendor, Bittersweet Homestead, based out of Westminster, MA, will highlight the flavors of Fall by adding apple cider donuts, pumpkin donuts, hot and cold apple cider and a hot caramel apple sipper to the menu.

SIPS: Wachusett Brewing Company will turn its taps to match the season. Now pouring: Boo Yeah! Pumpkin and Oktoberfest!

The Patios is part of Boston Seasons presented by Berkshire Bank, a three-year plan created by Boston Garden Development Corp. and the City of Boston Property Management Department to revitalize the existing plaza at City Hall and create a vibrant welcome public space for all. The Patios debuted on May 6 and has been successfully operating on Faneuil Hall overlook area of City Hall Plaza. It will close for the season on October 12.
